'Ak' Scholarship Recipients Feted

Sixty-four recipients of Ak-Sar-Ben scholarships will be honored Tuesday at a luncheon in the Milo Bail Student Center. Other honored guests will be the Ak-Sar-Ben king, Dr. Charles W. McLaughlin; Miss Jean Creighton, the queen; and the Ak-Sar-Ben Governors and Councillors.

This program began by Ak-Sar-Ben in September, 1960, is designed to aid scholastically worthy and financially needy students in obtaining a college education.

Each year the original 16 scholarships were increased by 16 to the present maximum of 64. The scholarships pay each student $200 per year for a total of $12,800.

To be eligible for the scholarship the student must be in good standing.

A student may retain an Ak-Sar-Ben scholarship during all four years of college. The scholarship is renewable annually for full-time students on the basis of good academic standing. These scholarships are awarded to both public and parochial high school graduates in the Omaha area upon the recommendations of their principals.

Thomas Allen, John Berkeimer, James Bos, Carol Ann Dorey, Murray George, Fred Haeberlein, Joan Holzapfel, Ann Kany, Judy Kirkpatrick, JoAnn Kuntorad, Carol Ruth Lee, Larry Lehmer, Judy McCaul, Ralph Morgan, Rodney O'Connor, and Patricia Rothe are the junior recipients.

Completing the list of scholarship holders are seniors La Vonne Chapman, Jerry Cobry, Julie Drum, Kristene Eskesen, Larry Hammer, Roger Henderson, Alice Hewitt, James Kasper, Kathleen McGuire, Janice Paulson, John Pavlatas, Gary Sander, Gertrude Shimko, Albert Swanson, Alyce Yacka, and Joyce Witt.

KOIL Listeners Win Over $2000

Have you ever heard a plastic spoon dropping in a plastic cup or a plastic squeeze bottle sprayer? Mike McCaslin and Gary Carlson did and now they are rich.

"While drinking tea one noon and listening to KOIL, I dropped a spoon in a cup," Mike thought that the spoon and cup hitting against each other and the "KOIL Secret Sound" were similar. He proceeded to send in a postcard to KOIL with his guess. Mike was notified soon of his winning and prize—$1,000. Mike said that he was very surprised and that the money will come in handy for school as he plans to transfer to another university next year.

Gary boasts a winning of $1380 for identifying the sound of the plastic squeeze bottle sprayer. Gary heard the sound on his car radio, Friday morning. He explained that the money "helps the old budget."

Chi Omegas Take Top Five In Tomahawk Beauty Contest

Lani Stockman was chosen the 1965-66 Tomahawk Beauty Queen Wednesday afternoon.

First runner-up was Karen Payne and Carole Buntz was second runner-up.

All are members of Chi Omega Sorority as are the other two of the top five winners, Jan Rasp and Karen Reeves. This is the third consecutive year that a Chi Omega has been chosen Queen.

Queen Lani

Lani is a 19-year old sophomore majoring in home-economics. She is a cheerleader and a member of Home-Ec Club, WRA and Chi Omega Rush Board.

When announced as the winner, Lani beamed and said, "I'm so excited and proud that my sorority sisters could win with me!" She was presented a dozen red roses by President Leland Traywick and a charm bracelet by Mrs. Barbara Brown, the Tomahawk yearbook editor.

The contest was held in the MBSC Ballroom. The 24 contestants walked down a ramp decorated on either side with miniature Christmas trees with colored lights. They wore street dresses and then long formals.

Three Judges

Judges for the contest were Betty Abbott, city councilwoman, Frank Scott, program director for KBON, and Robert Hansen, photographer for Northern Natural Gas. They were chosen by Mr. Paul Peterson, yearbook advisor, and Mrs. Brown, who kept the judges identity a secret until the contest. The contest was sponsored by the Tomahawk and Mr. Peterson and Mrs. Brown were in charge.

Denny Madigan was the announcer and the escorts were Dennis Waterman, Bob Bales, Bob Erxleben, Jim Gember, Leo Meidlinger, Chet McCarthy, Bob Olson, and Mike Moran.

Final Meet Report In To Prexy

With the Committee of the Future's work completed President Leland Traywick is now studying the report to determine what parts of it should be included in the University's master plan.

Although the suggestions of the 20 faculty members who served on this committee will not be made public, Omaha U's president emphasized that he, along with the Regents, wants to consider everything submitted. "This is an internal sort of report," he said in explaining why the contents will not be made public.

President Traywick called for the formation of the committee last April. Its purpose was to investigate anything considered important to the University. Among the topics discussed were the faculty, student body, resources and facilities.

In explaining what the Master Plan will roughly entail, OU's President compared it to Creighton University's plan. It deals with curriculum, land and building facilities, personnel—faculty, library, laboratories. "Almost any progressive and forward looking college has a Master Plan," President Traywick commented. "We will proceed carefully and thoughtfully with these changes," he summed up.

Tenure . . . Its Merits

In commenting about recent criticism in the World Herald of tenure given to Omaha Public Schools personnel, Dr. Traywick pointed out that at the collegiate level tenure is very important.

"It protects the faculty from outside pressures and dictatorship . . . It gives them freedom of study and speech, freedom to write, think and explore ideas, and freedom to be critical and constructive," he explained.

At OU tenure is never given lightly, according to President Traywick. "It is given to people who have proven themselves outstanding teachers and scholars," he continued.

According to Dr. Traywick

OU's rules regarding tenure are "fairly typical of most colleges and universities." Generally most associate professors and full professors receive tenure after three years. The University policy regarding tenure was first adopted in 1942 and was amended in 1945 and again in 1949. This policy states that instructors and assistant professors will not attain "academic tenure unless . . . granted . . . by specific action of the Board of Regents."

Wednesday evening the Regents and administrative staff entertained Nebraska's state senators from Omaha in order to, as President Traywick put it, "become better acquainted."

Yesterday OU's president left for New York to meet with United States Ambassador to the United Nations Arthur Goldberg. President Traywick joins other college and university presidents in a series of meetings involving both the community leaders and foreign policy association members.

Tomorrow night President Traywick and the University host the annual Founders Day dinner for Phi Beta Kappa. Dr. David Fellman of the University of Wisconsin will speak on academic freedom. President Traywick urges all faculty members planning on attending to inform Mrs. Thelma Engle. All faculty members and husbands or wives are invited.

Ratliff Is Named Angels Leader

Cadet Capt. Jeffrey R. Ratliff has been named commander of the Marching Angels at the University of Omaha.

Ratliff, 23, is a senior majoring in history. He was a member of the Sabres for two years and has taken part in two National drill competitions. He is Information Officer for the Arnold Air Society and was chairman for the fall blood drive at OU.

Ratliff hopes to gather a 24-girl group and form them into a competitive drill team worthy of being taken to competitive drill meets.

Official Notices

Any student interested in editing the GATEWAY during the second semester of this year is invited to submit an application to the University Publications Committee. For application forms see Prof. Paul V. Peterson, AA 116. Deadline is noon, next Friday.

Everyone in the senior class should pay the $10 graduation fee now. Money can be paid at a table in front of the bookstore all day today. It can be given to senior class treasurer Arnie Jensen or deposited in OU P.O. Box 96.

The GATEWAY is published weekly by students of the Omaha University Department of Journalism. Editorial comment and signed letters to the editor are not necessarily represent opinions of the faculty, administration or student body.

Many Aids Available To Help OU Scholars

Scholarships and grants at the University of Omaha make an education possible for many students.

Gifts donated by individuals and organizations in the form of scholarships total 55 and benefit 83 students. Others in addition to these, are the Omaha University Regents scholarships, honor scholarships, and tuition grants.

The Regents provide a number of scholarships which are awarded on the basis of competitive examinations to high school graduates. These scholarships provide resident tuition for the freshman year, and are renewable upon maintenance of a superior grade record. There are 107 students attending the University on Regents Scholarships.

Honor Scholarships

There are 15 students who hold University Honor Scholarships. These are available to sophomores, juniors, and seniors and are awarded strictly on the basis of scholastic achievement. No application is necessary. Recipients include the top boy and girl in each college and class. The student must have a 3.5 accumulative average. In the case that a college does not have a student who meets the requirements, that scholarship is not awarded.

Sixty-four students hold Ak-Sar-Ben Scholarships at the University. The program began by Ak-Sar-Ben in September 1960, is designed to aid scholastically worthy, financially needy students in obtaining a college education. The scholarships pay each student $200 per year, and can be reapplied for.

Tuition Grants

University Tuition Grants are available to regularly enrolled students. These grants give financial assistance to students

OU Theater Cast Starts 'Scandal'

Beautiful costumes, superb sets, and an all-around good performance by the cast in "The School for Scandal" is what you missed if you didn't see the play last night.

Don't fret, there will be repeat performances tonight and tomorrow night. The curtain goes up on William Sheridan's play at 8:30 p.m. in the University Auditorium.

Students may pick up tickets in the box office of the Administration Building by presenting their activity cards. The box office opens today at 9:30 and will close at 2:30. Tickets will also be on sale from 7:30 p.m. until show time tonight and tomorrow night.

who have indicated by previous academic performance that they can profit by a college education but need some financial assistance in order to continue their program of study. Application can be made to the Committee on Scholarships and Grants. At the present, there are 101 students using these grants. There are, in addition to these grants, 64 athletic grants being used. Other grants include: 45 Intern, and 98 University Employee Grants.

The University has $10,000 to be used for short-term loans in paying tuition. These loans are made between the individual and the school. National Defense Loans are made available to students at a low interest rate. These loans do not have to be paid back until one year after graduation, and 10 years is given to repay the loan. For teachers, the rate is ten percent each year, for the first five years. When these loans are paid back, the University can reloan the money. The fund at O.U. is $120,000 for this year. Application for these loans can be made in the Dean of Student Personnel office, Adm. 240.

Milo Bail Scholarship

The Milo Bail Scholarship has been established at the University to aid a graduate student who plans to enter college teaching or public school administration. This $500 scholarship is to be awarded to a student who shows leadership qualities and may be applied for in the graduate office.

This semester there are 12 students attending the University on Alumni Scholarships. Maureen L. Borden is the recipient of the $300 Wilfred Payne Liberal Arts scholarship; Ray L. Kundel holds the $200 Glenn L. Martin scholarship; Kathleen McGuire received the $300 Daniel E. Jenkins Memorial Scholarship; Lubbo C. Luken, an engineering student, was awarded the $500 Peter Kiewit-Alumni Scholarship and Kenneth R. McCormick is the recipient of the Pen & Sword (Bootstrap) Tuition Scholarship (worth approximately $500 a year) for an outstanding R.O.T.C. student.

In addition to the above scholarships, there are seven freshmen holding $150 Alumni High School Scholarships. Eight were awarded this past spring, but only seven students enrolled this fall. They are Nancy L. Brown, Robyn Carmichael, William G. Laitner, Eugene D. Mertz, Suzanne Mortensen, Steve E. Peterson, and Leo V. Waters.

The Sahlquist Family awards a scholarship to a student who shows leadership in school affairs and maintains high grades.

TWELVE IS A MANY-SPLENDORED THING

Today I begin my twelfth year of writing this column in your campus newspaper.

These dozen years have passed like a dozen minutes. In fact, I would not believe so much time has gone by except that I have my wife nearby as a handy reference. When I started this column, she was a mere slip of a girl—supple as a willow bough and fair as the morn. Today she is gnarled, lumpy, and given to biting the postman. Still, I count myself lucky. Most of my friends who were married at the same time have wives who chase cars all day. I myself have never had this trouble, and I attribute my good fortune to the fact that I have never struck my wife with my hand. I have always used a folded newspaper, even during the prolonged newspaper strike of 1961 in New York. During this journalistic period I had the airmail edition of the Manchester Guardian flown in daily from England. I must admit, however, that it was not entirely satisfactory. The airmail edition of the Guardian is printed on paper so light and flimsy that it makes very little impression when one smacks one's wife. Mine, in fact, thought it was some kind of game and tore several pairs of my trousers.

But I digress. For twelve years, I say, I have been writing this column. That is a fact, and here is another: I have every morning with Personna Stainless Steel Blades. I bring up Personna Stainless Steel Blades because this column is sponsored by the makers of Personna and they are inclined to brood if I omit to mention their products.

Not, let me hasten to state, that it is any chore for me to sing the praises of Personna—as you will agree once you try this sharpest, smoothest-shaving, longest-lasting blade ever devised by the makers of Personna Blades—now available both in Double Edge and Injector style. Personna, always the most rewarding of blades, today offers even an extra reward—a chance to grab yourself a fistful of $100 bills from a $100,000 bowl! The Personna Stainless Steel Sweepstakes is off and running, and you're all eligible to enter. Visit your friendly Personna dealer soon to pick up an entry blank (void where prohibited by law).

And, by the way, while you're at your friendly Personna dealers, why don't you ask for a can of Burma Shave? It comes in Regular or Menthol; it soaks rings around any other lather, and it's made by the makers of Personna.

But I digress. For twelve years, I say, this column has been discussing, forthrightly and fearlessly, such burning campus questions as "Should students be allowed to attend first-hour classes in pajamas?" and "Should deans be retired at age 25?" and "Should foreign exchange students be held for ransom?"

Today, continuing the tradition, we take up the thorniest academic problem of all: the high cost of tuition. Let me tell you how one student, Lintel Sigafos by name, solved this problem.

Lintel, while still a boy in Straighted Circumstances, Idaho, had his heart set on college, but, alas, he couldn't afford the tuition. He applied for a Regents Scholarship but, alas, his reading speed was not very rapid—only two words an hour—and before he finished even the first page of his exam, the Regents had closed their briefcases crossly and gone home. Lintel then applied for an athletic scholarship, but he had, alas, only a single athletic skill—balancing an ice cream cone on his chin—and this, alas, aroused only fleeting enthusiasm among the coaches.

And then he found the answer: he would get a student loan! Of course, he would have to pay it back after graduation, but clever Lintel solved that, too: he kept changing his major, never accumulating enough credits to graduate until he was 65 years old. Then he repaid the loan out of his Social Security.

Where there's a will, there's a way.

Underclassmen Pair Brings Home Honors

It's not necessarily true that upperclassmen net all the honors for the University of Omaha.

Marty Williams and Jim Foral have consistently helped to bring home firsts for OU's youthful debate squad. And, as a freshman and sophomore, respectively, the pair have a few more years to become even better.

In OU's first debate outing, Marty and Jim placed as the top negative team with Marty as top negative speaker. Last year, OU rated tenth out of a total of 136 teams at the National trials in Louisville, Kentucky. Marty and Jim, as a novice team, took five out of six rounds there.

Way of Life

Debate has been a way of life for the pair since high school days, but oddly enough, they both took up the art reluctantly. Marty, 20, wanted to sign up for drama, but a counselor persuaded her to join debate. Jim, 19, became a member of the squad and disliked the activity intensely at first.

Jim and Marty

Now, they couldn't praise debate more. "It has helped me so much in the classroom," Marty remarked, "Debate gives a person the ability to think logically. You also develop an analytical mind which enables you to look at things more closely. You aren't easily swayed by headlines." Jim agreed, saying that he now feels more comfortable with people because of his speech training and that debate is "stimulating and teaches you to think." Keeping up with the issues, keeps Jim and Marty at work in the library. They scrutinize news magazines and volumes of statistics, taking down useful information on cards which are, in turn, placed in an evidence file or "brain box" for use during tournaments.

As a team, they are relatively unflappable. However, Jim had a moment of panic in a recent tournament, when he had placed cards in preparation for a rebuttal on the table. Marty, in the meantime, filed them neatly away as they listened to a speech. Jim remarked, "This was pretty scary when I started my rebuttal, but I whipped out a few cards and the debate turned out quite well after all."

Both hold down part-time jobs. Marty, who is a graduate of Muscatine High School, Muscatine, Iowa, works about 24 hours per week at the Council Bluffs Savings Bank as a computer programmer. Jim, a Holy Name grad, is a student assistant in the Speech Department at OU.

Debate Image

They recommend speech to all students and at the same time, are attempting to stamp out misconceptions concerning the art. Marty says speaking ability is not necessarily an aptitude a person must be born with. "Speech work is a skill which can be learned. An above average student with a good, logical mind who is outgoing can become adept at it." And, Jim objects to the image people summon to mind when debate is mentioned. "Many people have the idea that if you're involved in debate you must wear horn-rimmed glasses and have a 3.9 average, but a person who can think well can probably develop as a debater."

A teaching career with debate as the basis is the object of the two. While Jim plans to be a debate coach on the high school or college level, Marty has her eye on teaching debate in high school.

OU Santas Send Servicemen Gifts

Nearly 700 Omahans "donated" one dollar each to see the OUSO Show held at Peony Park Thanksgiving night.

The show, sponsored by the University of Omaha Young Republicans, was held to raise money to buy Christmas presents for servicemen in Viet Nam.

Buddy Dundee, a local promoter, had a hand in the promotion of the show. Dundee lined up three acts from entertainers on the supper club circuit to supplement the OU talent.

Some 60 to 70 OU students took part, putting on 17 acts ranging from singing and dancing to pantomimes and comedy skits.

Gail Rowden, the current Miss Omaha, served as mistress of ceremonies for the three-hour show.

The show was divided into four parts, each representative of one of the four branches of the armed services.

The YR's have made wholesale purchases of fruit cakes, nuts, hard candy and other "goodies" unobtainable in Viet Nam.

Sponsor Change In Organizations

A change has been made in the sponsorship of campus activities by the Student Activities Committee.

Sponsors are not required to be at business meetings of campus organizations when the meetings are held on campus. In the past, it was required that sponsors be present. For exchanges, four sponsors were required and the requirements have been cut to one from each group. For all school functions, four sponsors are required. This would include events such as Homecoming and Ma-ie Day.

Petitions are still necessary for a function. Dean Donald Pflasterer said, "We're not being more lenient, but more interested in having petition deadlines met."

The committee can be notified if any faculty member is interested in sponsoring a co-curricular program.

Council Corner

A regular meeting of the Student Council was held November 24th at 3:30. President, Doug Slaughter presided. Roll was taken and minutes were approved as read.

Old business was then discussed. The old suggestion box will be repainted and set up within a couple of weeks. Election Rules Committee will report at the next meeting. Several organizations are being investigated concerning our orphan. Mr. Oschner will be questioned about the typewriters. They will be ordered. After some debate, Dean Pflasterer said the best location would be the Student Organizations Room. Council Dinner will be December 4th at 5:30. Council wants to order a teepee, but it has been interrupted in ordering. It was decided to order the teepee now. Kathy Wybenga volunteered to head the All School Christmas Party on December 19th. On December 8th, the Council will interview and select the member for Inner-City Council.

New business followed. A dance will be held after the first basketball game on December 4th. Chairman, Jim Sandoz, is in charge. Maie Day will be changed to Friday, May 13th, since the races start on May 6th, and, therefore, we won't be able to have a parade. The meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted, Marjorie Holmquist, Secretary.

Nebraska May Revamp Standards For Teaching

Thirty hours of preparation in each teaching field may soon be required of students in secondary education, if their teaching fields are unrelated.

This proposed requirement, along with others, will be considered in January when the Nebraska Council of Teacher Education will meet to take action on new proposed minimum standards for state approval of teacher education institutions.

One set of proposed requirements to be considered already corresponds closely to the requirements of the University's College on Teacher Education. These requirements were published in a bulletin by the National Association of Directors of Teacher Education and Certification in cooperation with the United States Office of Education.

The College of Teacher Education already does systematically evaluate the instruction and scholastic performance of its students, as proposed in the bulletin.

Supply and Demand Data

The placement office keeps data on teacher supply and demand, and keeps records of the students' practice teaching experiences.

The suggested curriculum pattern is already the curriculum

Docile Student Is Like Docile Adult

It is appropriate for all of us, whether businessmen or educators, to recall to ourselves regularly the reasons we all think a university education is vital to us individually, and thus why universities are vital to our society. If we believe that values of life are reflected in a university, then we should try to identify some of these values and see how they are rightfully a part of academic life.

A value of higher education which is unchanging is that of independence. No matter what the society or the conditions of the times, the university must be independent and free from outside control of the ideas it explores. Academic excellence cannot be disassociated from such independence and freedom. We cannot have excellence if everyone is expected to think as everyone else does, and never to challenge anyone or anything. Especially is this true if we place such strictures upon our youth, since if they accept every idea with docility during their formative years, they will be sheep-like as adults. Show me the university or, indeed, the community where no unpopular idea can find opportunity for utterance, where the status quo can never be challenged, and I will show you a place of sterility and inaction, of self-satisfaction bordering on the reactionary. Show me the organization where everyone must conform in order to advance or even survive, and I will show you a place where excellence in its true meaning has been sublimated to a condition of mediocrity.

—Dr. Samuel B. Gould, president of the State University of New York, in a speech at Buffalo.

Tidbits From The Butcher Shop

It's For Real, Fans . . .

Despite the apparent lack of recognition by the local daily, a paper that refuses for some reason to believe that Omaha does have TWO college basketball teams, the 1965 edition of the Omaha U basketball fortunes takes the court tomorrow night at eight in the home opener against a tough University of Minnesota at Duluth squad.

The strange thing is that while publicity concerning this team may be at the lowest point in head coach Jim Borsheim's tenure at Omaha, the team may be the best yet.

Even OU students may be surprised that football is over and that the cage season is for real. But those that come to the Fieldhouse tomorrow night will see a dilly. UMD has been in the NCAA College Division playoffs for the last umpteen years.

Omaha may be the sleeper of the CIC. Jumping Jacks Sam Singleton and Denny Browne could be brilliant. Team then with the hustling Myers brothers, Jimmy and Charley, and you have one heck of an entertaining quintet. The fifth man may be some time in developing. He's football split end Billy Haas, a basketball starter last year who is making the transition from one sport to another.

Borsheim has been working this team harder than any other in his reign. He has to because he desperately needs a big winner. Basketball is disregarded here on campus, especially when it comes to financial aid. Borsheim recruits on a dream and a dime most of the time as football and baseball cronies divide the spoils.

But Jim may have the last laugh this year and here's hoping he does. Come on out tomorrow night and have a real ball watching Borsheim's Bandits . . . they might surprise you . . . Even with holes in their pockets.

You Can't Win 'Em All . . .

If Omaha had beaten Drake in the last football game, Indian backers might have had a chance to bask in Florida sunshine this month instead of worrying about the campus cops ticketing their cars or if the temporary buildings are for real.

If Omaha had beaten Drake, chances are that the team would not have received an NAIA Playoff bid. But . . . chances were good that they would have received an invitation to play Tampa in the Cigar Bowl at Tampa, Florida, later this month.

The bid would have come through the efforts of Al Duer of the NAIA who recognized OU's explosiveness and crowd appeal. Duer also realized the strange NAIA rules governing just who gets into the playoffs.

St. John's? Fairmont State? Linfield? Are there those that could believe Omaha couldn't beat these teams? Tampa was a different story.

But it was only a dream because Drake smashed that completely. It was a great season for Omaha and those fans lucky enough to see Briscoe, Allen and company perform. But oh, that Florida weather would have been nice.

And Also . . .

While we're on the subject of football . . . Stadium Manager Charlie Mancuso has been patiently waiting for OU officials to make some move on playing night games next year at Rosenblatt Stadium.

Everybody, including the night watchmen were for night football after seeing 9,000 people troop through the turnstiles for the Bradley game on October 9th.

But now where is the push? Now is the time when plans should be made for next year. Mancuso is holding up next year's plans for Saturday nights because he wants to see if OU will play at Rosenblatt. The Omaha Mustangs will be glad to get those Saturday nights if we don't want them.

But what do we want? . . . Not one person has contacted Mancuso about night ball and he's getting a little impatient about the whole thing. We would hate to think that all that talk was just a big bluff.

There is still a home game to fill on next year's schedule because Northern Illinois has dropped from the chart. We hope that things are not left until the last minute this time because we may not get another chance.

'Great Team Effort'

Indians Topple NE Mo. With Quick Start, 65-54

An early hot-streak paved the way for win number one of the 1965 basketball season for Omaha University Wednesday.

The Indians of Jim Borsheim reeled off eight straight points before Northeast Missouri could get on the board and then rolled to a 65 to 54 victory.

Borsheim, who overflows with optimism only on special occasion, called the win "the greatest team effort in my five years as Omaha coach."

The Indians continued their torrid pace throughout the first half as they bolted to a 36 to 21 halftime lead.

Singleton Sparkles

Junior Sam Singleton sparked the first half OU surge. The 6-5 junior hit 16 of his game high 25 points before intermission. He was benched just before the first half ended after drawing his fourth foul. Bernie Miller replaced Singleton and connected on his only field goal of the night to give the Indians their 15-point first half bulge.

Borsheim's Bandits returned after the rest period with as much go-go as they had shown in the first half. With Dennis Browne clearing the boards with authority, and Singleton continuing his hot shooting, the Indians never trailed and were never in serious trouble.

Tactics Switched

Singleton drew foul number five with seven minutes left to play and OU was forced to switch tactics.

The outstanding ball work by backcourt aces, Charley and Jimmy Meyers, did the trick. Borsheim praised the brother combination for "the best backcourt performances of their careers." Charley hit ten points and Jimmy chipped in eight for the game.

Bill Haas, who reported late after finishing up with football, turned in an exceptional game, hitting 14 points for the night, eight in the all-important second half.

A good shot at the foul line proved to be the difference in the game for OU as both teams hit 24 shots from the field. The Indians hit 17 for 28 at the line, while the Bulldogs could manage only 6 for 15.

Defense

The offensive display, as well as some heroics defensively, proved that the players can click as a team. And although Singleton's scoring effort must be admired, his defensive contribution must also be pointed out.

Browne's showing in new surroundings, five points and 14 rebounds for the night, can also be pointed to as a sign for better things to come.

Home Opener Tonight Against Minnesotans

The University of Minnesota at Duluth, a team that is big, strong and talented, opens the home side of the Omaha U basketball season tomorrow night at eight in the Fieldhouse.

The Minnesota crew finished second in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Conference last season and made the NCAA College Division Playoffs. The Bulldogs from Duluth were runners up to North Dakota U in the regional finals, whipping Colorado State, 86-85, but losing to the Dakotans, 67-57, in the title game for the trip to Evansville.

Last year at Duluth, the Bulldogs tore Omaha up by 74-51 with a torrid second half.

Back from that potent crew that finished 16-9 on the season are 6-6 Junior Bob Wilkowski, 6-5 Junior Dennis DeJarlais and 6-0 senior guard Bruce Ackland. UMD head coach Norm Olson lost several key vets by graduation and will have to rely heavily on a list of ten talented freshmen. But there are some big ones, including 6-8 Jeff Ellenson and 6-6 Chuck McNulty.

OU set

Omaha will be in good shape with a game Wednesday under its belt against tough Northeast Missouri. It is a "must" game for Indian mentor Jim Borsheim if the club is to get off to a good start for 1965-66.

Tipoff time is eight o'clock at the Fieldhouse and it should be a dandy attraction for OU fans. Activity cards will admit all students for no charge.

Alabama has thrown a white sheet over the scales of justice.

Business Fraternity Sponsors Seminar

Delta Sigma Pi will sponsor its annual management seminar on December 9th in the Bail Student Center at 7 p.m. The theme of the seminar will be in the area of employment interviewing.

Guest speakers will be Ronald Farrell and Robert Cash, both representing Northern Natural Gas Corporation. Students from all colleges are invited to attend the meeting.

Two things are permanent—temporary taxes and temporary buildings.

Huskers Open Omaha's Mat Schedule In Fieldhouse Tonite

by Leo Meidlinger

With eight returning lettermen on the roster, the brightest prospects in three seasons, greet wrestling coach Don Benning this year.

However, Benning's optimistic outlook may be dimmed somewhat tonight when the Indians take on Nebraska.

The nine returnees are back from one of the most successful mat teams in Omaha University history. Last year's squad finished with a 9-5 dual mark and finished second in the NAIA District 11 championships. The grappling Indians wrapped up their campaign with a 14th-place finish in the NAIA national meet.

Junior Gerald Shook, a 130-pounder, and sophomore Reggie Williams are being looked to as the "team leaders," according to Benning. Both wrestlers won district titles last year.

Shook was OU's leading-point-getter a season ago with 53. He compiled a 13-5 record, boosting his career mark to 25-8.

Williams, a 160-pounder, posted an 11-6 record last year as a rookie.

Other lettermen are: Dick Hall (123), Ken Netwig (145), Phil Goduto (152), Rick Davis (167), Rich Tomasek (177), and Tom Maides (heavyweight).

Tomasek will not be eligible until the spring semester.

Another letterman, Cal McGruder, a 167-pounder, did not report this year.

According to Benning there's a fine crop of freshmen that give depth to the lighter weights, but the heavier divisions are thin in talent.

Leading the 12 freshmen grapplers are Curlee Alexander (115), Kinze Williams (123), Tom Murtaugh (137), Jerry Neville (145) and Neil Franklin (177).

Omaha Guard Aden Named to Little All-American Squad; 9 Indians On CIC Team

by Mike Moran

Omaha University's two-time All-CIC guard, Harlan Aden, has been named to the Associated Press 1965 Little All-American team. The Scottsbluff senior was named to the second offensive unit.

Aden, a 215 pounder, lettered three years for the Indians and is hailed as Omaha's finest offensive guard in history. Ironically, Aden gained this year of eligibility through a hardship ruling by the CIC because of an injury in his freshman year at Scottsbluff J.C.

Receiving honorable mention were quarterback Marlin Briscoe, end Jimmy Jones, tackle Ron Stave and halfback Gerry Allen.

Strangely, Allen was an A.P. first team selection last year despite playing in only five games. This year, despite setting an OU rushing mark for career and single season, Gerry was not named.

Omaha U's star quarterback, Marlin Briscoe, and middle guard Larry Von Tersch are unanimous choices on the 1965 Central Intercollegiate Conference "dream team" as chosen by coaches and sports publicists.

The two unanimous picks join seven other Indians in reaping All-CIC honors this season as Omaha took its third title in four years.

Briscoe set Omaha records for single season total offense, single season passing, touchdown passes in a single season and many other ers in leading OU to an 8-2 finish and the CIC title.

Aden . . . All-American

Von Tersch was the vicious tackler who piled up opposition plays and was the ringleader of a young Omaha defense that checked Fort Hays in the second half to give Omaha the title in the championship game. The 220 pounder from Creighton Prep is a junior, as is Briscoe.

Seven others named

Seven other Omaha standouts spice the first offense and defense units. Senior Harlan Aden was named to the offensive unit for the second straight year. The Scottsbluff native is Omaha's finest offensive guard in history.

Tackle Dave Rak, a junior from Omaha South was a near unanimous pick for his work this season. Big Dave is an excellent blocker and a hustler who went to defense when needed.

End Jimmy Jones gains the unique distinction of getting named to both the first offense and first defense units. Jimmy's blocking was the highlight of his offensive showing, but the 255 pound senior from Morristown, New Jersey, caught many key passes as well. On defense, he was considered one of the best barrickers in CIC history.

Completing the offensive list is OU's great halfback Gerry Allen. The big senior set an Omaha career rushing mark as well as a single season mark of 815 yards this past season. There is no other way to describe Allen but to say that he is the greatest ball carrier to ever don an Omaha uniform. He can run, block and catch a pass with the best of them. His maneuvers in the open field were something to behold. The 24-year old service vet is the finest all-around player in recent OU history. His shoes will be hard to fill. Allen was a CIC choice in 1963 but missed last season.

Defense, too

Joining Jones and Von Tersch on the defensive unit are tackle Bill Jansen, and backs Don Crum and Cal McGruden.

Allen, Jones Go With Pro Clubs For Big Bonus Deals

by Mike Moran

Omaha's two pro-football draftees are a bit happier today after signing lucrative contracts with two of pro football's best.

Little All-American halfback Gerry Allen, the all time Omaha rushing champion and holder of the OU single season ground gaining mark, signed Tuesday for a figure around 30 thousand dollars with the Baltimore Colts of the N.F.L. While exact figures were not disclosed, the amount was rumored to break down into a 12,000 dollar bonus and an 18,000 dollar salary contract for the first year with the Colts. Allen was the eighth draft choice of the Baltimore Club and the 11th round pick of the New York Jets of the AFL.

The native of Massillon, Ohio, came to Omaha U after serving a four year hitch in the Air Force that ended at Omaha's Offutt Air Base. Allen was named to the All-CIC backfield in 1963 and 1965 and was named to the Associated Press Little All-American team in 1964 and 1965. He was an A.P. first team selection last year.

Jones Signs

End Jimmy Jones, a 6-4, 255-pounder from Morristown, New Jersey, was reported to have signed a contract Tuesday with the New York Jets that called for a sum in the neighborhood of 20,000 dollars.

The three time all-league selection lettered four years at Omaha and was named to the NAIA District 11 team last year. He's an excellent blocker and a fine defensive end with speed and strength.

While official announcement of Jimmy's signing was not made public Tuesday, an announcement was believed forthcoming from Jet headquarters in New York later this week.

Powerful Bulldogs Overcome Early 14-0 Deficit To Upset Indians 36-30 In Finale

OU footballers closed the 1965 season on a sour note November 20, losing to Drake, 36-30 at Des Moines. The loss gave Omaha an 8-2 mark for the year and Drake a 6-4 log.

Omaha took a 14-0 lead in the first period only to see Drake bounce back to lead, 15-14 at halftime. OU took its last lead at 20-15 early in the third period before Drake scored three straight times to put the game on ice at 36-22 with 4:56 left in the game.

Bill Haas, Gerry Allen, Bill Dodd and Rick Davis scored for Omaha while OU's amazing Marlin Briscoe hit 13 of 27 passes for 194 yards.

Gould Finishes 4h In NAIACC Run

A long and brilliant cross-country career came to a close for Omaha University's durable 135 pounder, Ken Gould, with a fourth place finish in the National Association of Intercollegiate Cross-Country Championship race held in snow-spotted Elmwood Park Saturday, Nov. 27.

Prior to the championship meet Ken won first place honors in nine consecutive meets before the CIC conference meet in Emporia, Kan. in which he placed third.

The following week he returned to form to place first in the District 11 NAIA meet.

. . . off record

Gould's time at Elmwood was 21:26 far off his O.U. record time of 20:27 for four miles which he established in O.U.'s last home dual meet, with Midland College.

Coach Lloyd Cardwell praised Ken for his fine finish.

Ft. Hays, Kansas won the team title with 43 points and Omaha U. finished twentieth in a field of 22 teams and 174 competing athletes.

Pat McMahon, 23-year-old Oklahoma Baptist freshman from County Clare Ireland won the cross-country title with a time of 20:28.5 for the four-mile course.

Parks anywhere

A Honda needs a mere 3'x6' space to be perfectly content. And that puts a spot, about a mile away from space to be perfectly content. And that puts an automobile on its destination.

There are other sides to Honda, too. Hondas are fiendishly frugal. A gallon of gas will carry you up to 200 mpg, depending on which of the 15 Honda models you're driving. And insurance bills shrink to practically nothing. As for upkeep, a Honda needs little.

The shining example above is the remarkable Honda 50. It sells for about $215*. And there are 14 more models to choose from. Look them over.

New "Grain Of Sand" Hits Bookstore Stand

By Clarence Wilson

The December issue of the University of Omaha's literary extravaganza, "Grain of Sand" has hit the stands in the BSC Bookstore.

The magazine is "a selection of the work" of creative writing students at O.U., put together by an editorial board headed by Sally Schlegel, Jim Faiman, Linda Flack, Mark Hallgren and Gary Johnson are the other members.

The words of William Blake explain the purpose of this effort:

To see a World in a grain of sand

And a Heaven in a wild flower,
Hold Infinity in the palm of your hand

And Eternity in an hour.

The "World?"

The magazine can be held in the palm of your hand for 45 cents, but it will take longer than an hour to read. I question, however, whether it truly presents "the World," here at OU. The magazine presents a good picture of the world through the content of the stories and poems. But in my mind, the literary "world" of OU does not receive an adequate presentation. The magazine is 23 pages long and 15 pages were short stories.

The short stories are too long.

Wars and Dreams

The longest, "West of Vipuri" by Charles Lockwood, is a story of a group of Finns who were prisoners of the Russians. The story paints a beautiful picture of the Scandinavian countryside and starts to tell a little of the nature of the men who were prisoners.

"I had the feeling, even though it is the longest story, that Lockwood stopped too soon. The story is like an empty whiskey bottle. I wish there were more.

"Gerald: A Story in three Clearly Marked Parts," by Harold Schneider, is a funny and refreshing story of a dream. Gerald, in his dream, has much the same trouble as Peter O'Toole had in the movie "What's New, Pussycat?" Gerald is a TV cameraman and has a pretty sexy problem.

The story is well told, except that I wasn't quite sure it was a dream, until the end. If American TV audiences were a bit more broad-minded this would be an excellent TV comedy or, possibly, if expanded, could be used for a movie similar to "What's New, Pussycat?"

The next story, "O Grave, Where Is Thy Victory?" by Jim Faiman, is an extremely moving story. Faiman writes as though he has experienced the ravages of war, or read a lot, or watched a few war movies and TV shows. He has captured a sense of the stream of consciousness and I, for one, wasn't at all confused about where the story was going.

I got the feeling that Faiman didn't quite capture the agony that his title implies. The ending is weak.

Iowa High School Students Say Cars 'In,' Bikes 'Out'

IOWA CITY, IOWA — The automobile is definitely "in" and the bicycle is decidedly "out" among Iowa high school students who use one or the other means of transportation.

Figures compiled by the Iowa State Department of Public Instruction show that 23 per cent of public school students in grades 10 through 12 have cars of their own, but less than 1 per cent of the juniors and seniors rode bicycles to school. Almost two-thirds of these pupils have licenses to drive.

The information, which showed that only 1 per cent of the sophomores and 4 per cent of the ninth graders rode bicycles to school, was gathered through the Card-Pac questionnaire filled out by the pupils last spring. CardPac

Cadets Tour Langley AFB

Eighteen AFROTC cadets from the University of Omaha recently took part in a base visitation to Langley Air Force Base, Va. They were escorted by Major Kenneth A. Dyer, Professor of Aerospace Studies at OU and Dr. J. V. Blackwell, head of the Art Department at OU.

The cadets were flown to Langley from Offut AFB on November 17. While at Langley, they toured the 48th Fighter Interceptor Squadron, the 22 Air Defense Squadron, a Bomark missile squadron, and the Physiological Training Detachment.

was developed at the Iowa Educational Information Center at The University of Iowa, Iowa City, in cooperation with the state department.

Seniors led in two categories, with 82 per cent indicating they have a driver's license while a third had cars of their own. One per cent of the seventh graders who answered the questionnaire have a driver's license, and the percentage is progressively higher the farther along the student is in school.

When asked if they have a learner's permit to drive a car, 16 per cent of all 7th through 12th graders responded that they did. More sophomores—34 per cent — answered yes than any other grade level.

Thirty-six per cent of the students said they drove their parents' cars frequently, the junior class leading in this category with 62 per cent.

Fifteen per cent of the students drove to school at least once a week with a high of 39 per cent among the seniors.

More students went to school by school bus than any other means of transportation—36 per cent. Thirty per cent walked and 13 per cent used the family car while only four per cent rode bicycles.

Nineteen per cent of the students lived two to five miles from school and an additional 15 per cent were one to two miles away. However, 39 per cent lived within a mile of their school.

Area Educators To Plan Training

E. J. Sadler, of the secondary education department, is a chairman of the Metropolitan Council on Teacher Education, meeting Monday at Dukesne College.

The council will discuss plans to propose standardized orientation procedures for all cooperating teachers, evaluation procedures for student teachers, and observation and supervision procedures.

The council's functions are to promote some uniformity of practices between the teacher education institutions and the public and parochial schools, and to promote closer cooperation between these organizations.

Members of the council are from all of the teacher education institutions who use public and parochial schools in the metropolitan area for placement of student teachers and classroom observation experiences.

The College of Teacher Education will be giving the required tests on Saturday. The math test will be held at 9 a.m.; reading, 9:45; personality, 10:45.

Channel 26 Is Successful; To Begin Night Programs

The first month's verdict of Channel 26 is favorable. Students and teachers think both the reception and programming are good.

Eight school systems in a 30-mile radius from OU are receiving the educational television program. The Metropolitan Omaha Educational Broadcasting Association has been broadcasting about four weeks from the KYNE-TV studios in the AA building.

At the present, the programs are primarily for children in elementary schools. Some programs are especially for teachers to acquaint them with the potential of educational television. There is also a driver education program for high schools.

Channel 26 Manager Paul Borge, who is also director of radio and television at OU, commented about some future plans of the ETV station.

"We plan to begin evening programming February 1. It will start with one hour broadcasting five nights a week. Later we may expand to one-and-one-half or two hours," Borge said.

The evening programming would be aimed at families. One series would be "Modern Math for Parents." The other would be repeats of some day time programs, such as art, music, science or speech.

Pop Art Show In Student Center Exhibits "1c Life" Until Dec. 17th

An exhibit of some 30 lithographs is on display in the Milo Bail Student Center, room 313.

The show, "1c life", is an anthology of poems by Walassee Ting with "images" by 28 contemporary artists.

Examples of Pop Art, Abstract Expressionism and International Style are in the show which will run until December 17.

Art department chairman, Dr. Blackwell said that this is the first opportunity that people in this area have to see some examples of "Pop Art."

The hours for the exhibit are 11:30-4:00, Tuesday through Friday.

Santa Makes Early Visit To Three Lucky Lasses

The Turkey Holiday was a significant Thanksgiving for at least three O.U. misses.

Pat Karre, Terri Pospichal, and Mary Lynn Rhode were honored at separate fraternity functions.

Pikes Dream of Pat Karre

Friday night Miss Karre, a senior, was chosen Dream Girl of Pi Kappa Alpha.

Blonde, hazel-eyed Pat adds this honor to many others. She is president of Chi Omega, treasurer of Angel Flight and a two-year member of Student Council.

She Pat . . . dreamed also holds a membership in Wakarusa and Alpha Lambda Delta, national scholastic honorary.

Last year she was elected an Honorary Major by the men of Arnold Air Society.

Miss Karre received the title and a trophy at the fraternity's annual Garnet and Gold Ball. Other candidates were: Dodie Jenkins, Sigma Kappa; Judy Vincent, Alpha Xi Delta; and Lydia White, Zeta Tau Alpha.

Others Moon Over Mary Lynn

A crescent moon shone brightly Saturday night for Mary Lynn Rhode. Miss Rhode, also a senior, was chosen Crescent Girl of Lambda Chi Alpha at the White Rose Formal.

Mary Lynn also boasts an impressive list of honors. She has been secretary and treasurer of Alpha Xi Delta. She is currently serving as Panhellenic representative.

The future elementary school teacher is a member of Home Economics Club and Student Education Association. Earlier this year Miss Rhode was awarded the Kathy Plante Memorial Scholarship.

As Crescent Girl she received a bouquet of white roses, a bracelet, and the Crescent Girl Trophy.

Sig Eps Overrule Hefner

Meanwhile, back at the Lamp-lighter Inn, Miss Terri Pospichal became the Sigma Phi Epsilon "Playmate of the Year."

Among Terri's other laurels are membership in Angels Flight Honorary, election as freshman class secretary, and Art Club secretary. She is the recipient of the Jorgenson Scholarship.

The future art instructor is a member of Chi Omega sorority, the University Choir, and the Women's Recreation Association. The 1965 Playmate has also worked part-time for Dr. Blackwell, head of the Art Department.

Other prospective Playmates were: Sharon Halliburton, Marsha Mefford, and Betsy Rasmussen.

Westward Ho, Bethel!

Dr. Hollie Bethel, head of the department of elementary education, is the president-elect of the Nebraska Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development.

Dr. Bethel will be going to San Francisco in March to a meeting of the national association, which is composed of about 6000 supervisors, principals and curriculum planners.

'Instructor' Joyce Is 'Just Another Fella'

Joyce Dusek, who says she is just "another one of the guys," is the first female accounting lab instructor.

Joyce remarked, "As the only female majoring in accounting, everybody treats me as just another guy. They refuse to accept me as a female counterpart."

As an accounting lab instructor, 21-year-old Joyce is better known to her lab students as "Mom" because of a course she studied recently—Marriage and the Family. Joyce teaches five labs a week, two hours each.

The OU senior has attended OU on an Omaha University Regents scholarship since her graduation from South High in 1962.

She is also president of Phi Theta Chi; a women's professional business honorary.

(L to R) Bugs Bunny, Jill Anderson, Pat Karre, Livi Bergman, and Petey Penguin encourage everyone to come to the Toys for Tots Dance tonight.

OU Angels' Angle: Collect New Toys, Add Old For New Christmas Joys

A new toy is the admission ticket to the Angel Flight's Toys for Tots Dance tonight.

It will be held from 9 p.m. to midnight in the Bail Student Center Ballroom. The Echoes Combo will play.

The dance climaxes a week of collecting old toys from OU students. The old toys will be fixed up by the Omaha Marine Corp and given to needy children at Christmas.

There's still time to donate your old toys to the drive. Collection barrels will remain in OU halls until this evening. The barrels are located in the Student Center, Library, and Administration and Applied Arts Buildings. Jill Anderson is in charge of the drive and the dance.

Society Honors Leland And Livi

President Leland E. Traywick was initiated into the Corinthians Society as an honorary member Tuesday night.

President Traywick was honored at a dinner held in the Bail Student Center. The announcement of his membership came as a surprise to OU's eighth president.

Guest Speaker at the banquet was W. Dakin Williams who spoke on the life of his playwright brother, Tennessee Williams.

Also initiated as a new member was Livi Bergman.

Majors, Minors Club To Play Games Again

The women's P.E. Majors and Minors Club will hold its annual Alumnae Teachers-Student volleyball game this Wednesday.

The game, scheduled for 8 p.m. in the West Quonset Hut, will pit former P.E. majors against students now majoring in physical education.

Mary Lynn, Terri . . . chosen.

NOTICE

An interest in OU basketball and a pair of socks are all OU students need for fun Saturday night.

The Student Council kicks off the start of OU's cage season with a sock-hop after the first home game with the University of Minnesota.

The dance will be on the basketball court with the Star Fires Combo providing the music. Admission is free to OU students. It will last from 10 p.m. to midnight.

Jim Sandoz, student council treasurer, is in charge.

Wanted: Smiling, Sexy O.U. Sirens. Object: To Greet

The West Omaha Junior Chamber of Commerce has a quest.

This search is for sexy, smiling O.U. coeds.

The lucky lasses who are chosen will become West Omaha Greeters. The only qualifications for applying are to be at least 17 years of age, to be an O.U. student, and to be a female.

Interested co-eds should send photos and brief personal histories to:

Mel Horwich
Suite B3, Swanson Building
8401 West Dodge Road
Omaha, Nebraska

All entries must be made by December 31. The photos and histories will be returned.

Greeters act as official Omaha hostesses for visiting dignitaries. They will also assist the Junior Chamber of Commerce with civic duties, and be part of a welcoming committee greeting new businessmen in West Omaha.
